Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Taxes payable by investors have not been taken into account. The figures shown have been provided for illustrative purposes – they are unaudited and subject to change. The total returns shown are gross of all fees, meaning they do not reflect the deduction of any investment management fees which would reduce returns and assume reinvestment of all distributions. Investment in the fund is not available on a fee free basis and this should be factored into any analysis of past performance.

Market review

The MSCI World Small Cap Index (USD, NTR) gained +9.08% in the month of April 2026.

Among related benchmarks, during the same period, the Russell 2000 Index (USD, NTR) gained +12.20%, while the MSCI ACWI Small Cap Index (USD, NTR) gained +9.68%.

Among countries, on a relative basis, stocks in the US and Japan contributed most positively to benchmark returns, primarily driven by gains from the Information Technology and Industrials sectors.

In terms of size factor, large caps remained relatively flat with respect to small caps, during the period under consideration, while in terms of style factors, Value underperformed Growth moderately.

Portfolio review

The Yarra Global Small Companies Fund returned 4.35% during the period, outperforming its benchmark, MSCI World Small Cap in AUD (net) (3.91%), by 44 bps on a net basis.

Among investment themes*, signals within the Themes and Trends pillar contributed particularly strongly to relative returns followed by the suite of signals within High-Quality Business Models. Conversely, signals within the Sentiment Analysis pillar detracted during the period. Signals within Fundamental Mispricings also hurt relative performance.

Within Themes and Trends, economic linkages factors performed well. These factors use machine learning and natural language processing techniques to identify underlying connections between stocks that the broader market may not fully recognize. Meanwhile, signals gauging alternative profitability within the High-Quality Business Models pillar helped relative performance meaningfully. On the downside, factors looking at investor sentiment within the Sentiment Analysis pillar hurt relative performance the most. Moreover, within Fundamental Mispricings, signals gauging relative valuation detracted considerably during the period.

Among sectors, holdings within the Information Technology sector contributed the most to relative performance, with an overweight position within the Electronic Equipment, Instruments & Components industry contributing particularly strongly. On the downside, holdings within the Health Care sector detracted the most from excess returns, where an overweight position within the Pharmaceuticals industry hurt relative performance.

At an individual stock level, an overweight position in Seagate Technology Holdings PLC, held primarily due to views around
